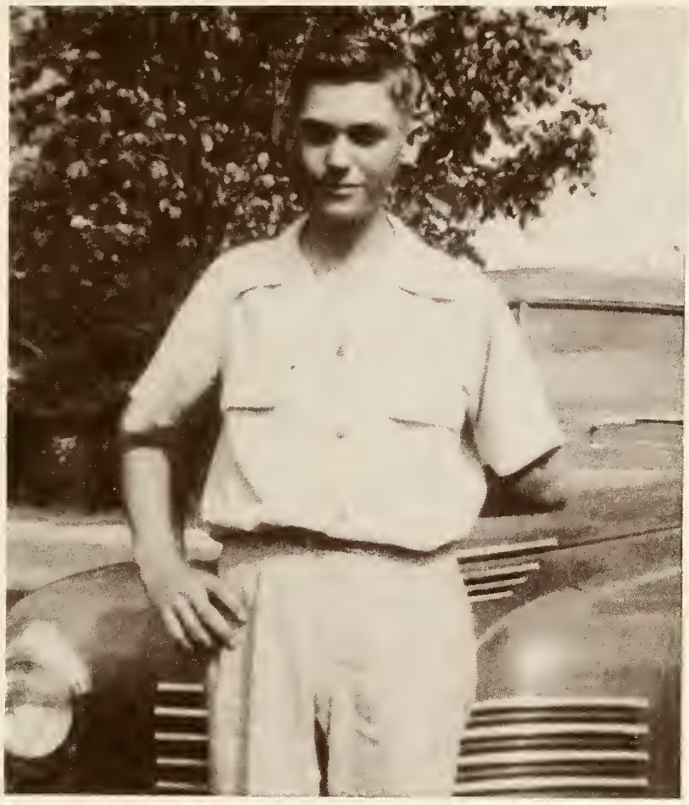
DEDICATION

Miss Grace Aline Franck

We, the seniors of 1948,wish to dedicate this annual to Miss Grace Aline Franck, whose skillful guidance and cooperation has made our annual possible.

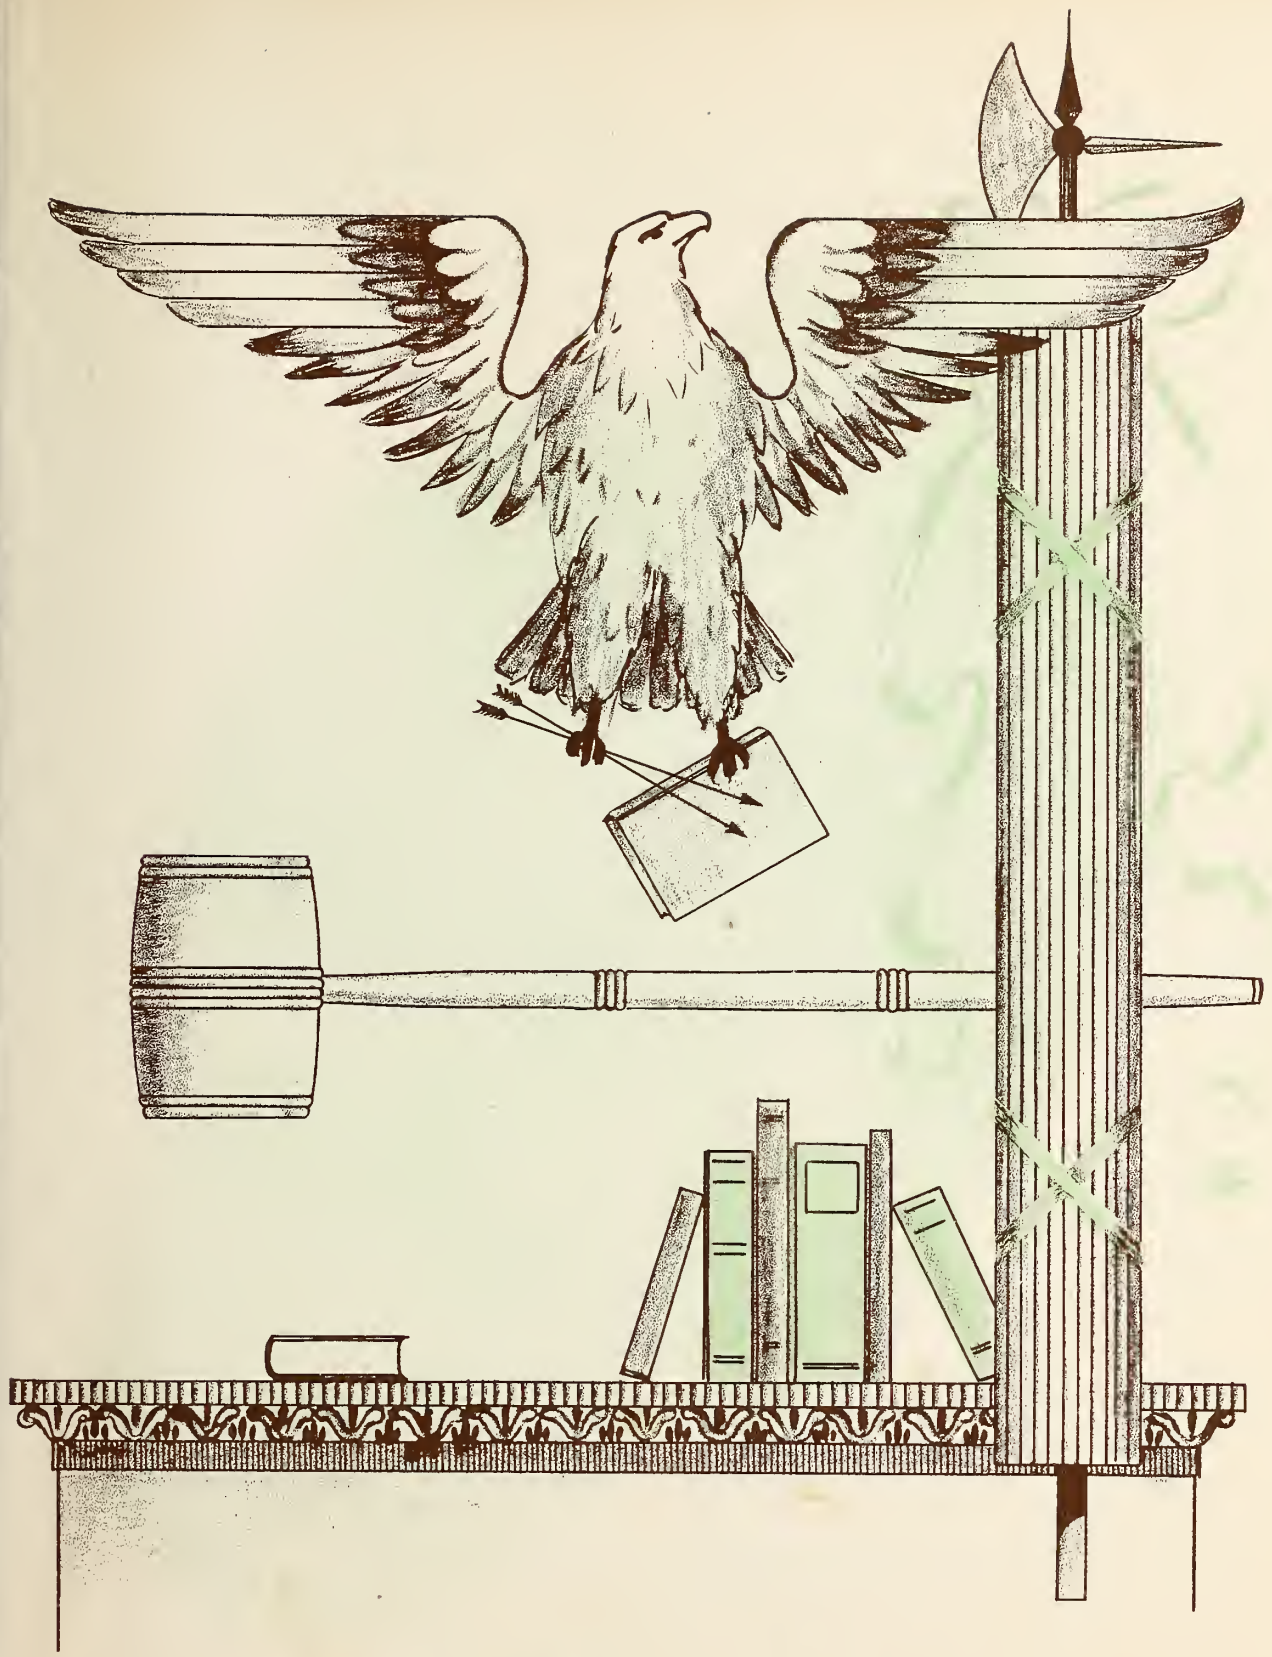
Miss Franck graduated from Woman's College of University of North Carolina in 1942. From 1942-1944 she taught at Fremont High School,Fremont, North Carolina. From 1944-1947 she worked in Washington, D. C. and Atlanta, Georgia as administrative analyst for the U. S. Army Air forces. In 1947 she joined the Wakelon Staff as a French and English teacher.



IN MEMORIAM

We, the Senior Class, prepare this annual in memory of our dearly beloved classmate, William Leon Fowler, who was fatally injured on May 10, 1947. His death occurred during our Junior year in high school. He was loved by everyone and took part in many activities of the school.

As we graduate we will be thinking of him and his memory will linger with us during the remainder of our travels through life.



ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Fred A. Smith, Principal of Wakelon School

Mr. Smith, new to our school this year,is by no means new to the field of education. He attended Elon College and attended summer sessions at Duke University, University of North Carolina, and Wake Forest.

He was principal at Rose Hill for 3 years, and has taught at Perquimans County High School, Ahoskie High School, Littleton High School, and State College.

Though Mr. Smith has been our principal for only a year, he has won the love and respect of all.

In addition to his many duties as principal, he also led the Wakelon girls' basketball team victoriously to the County semi-finals tournament.

We, the Senior Class, will remember his words of guidance that he gave us during the year that he was our leader, as we go into our different paths of life.

OUR MASCOTS

Tommy Bunn

Class History

It has been a long voyage on the ship U. S. S. Wakelon. Not many ships take voyages through twelve seas, but our ocean-going vessel has braved the storms, the change of many captains, the stopping at eleven different ports for three months vacation periods, the loss and gain of passengers at each stop, and is now sailing majestically into the port of graduation, our final destination.

In 1936 our ship gathered its 83 passengers for the first time and under the guidance of the co-captains, Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Page we forgot to be homesick and spent most of our time learning to read, write and sit still in a seat.

Mrs. Page and Mrs. Dawson left us at the end of 1937 to initiate more new voyagers that year on another ship and taking their places were Miss Stell and Miss Smith to be with us on this travel through the second seas. We found that two new members had made their bunk on our vessel: Kenneth Hopkins and Ben Massey. While on this part of our trip we studied Arithmetic and Spelling along with our usual Reading and Writing.

In the third sea Mrs. Spencer and Miss Fowler were our leaders. We also found we had six new voyagers: Rochelle Deans, Elvera Raybon, S. G. Flowers, Rex Tippett, Nina Belle Horton and William Fowler. Our most important task in this part of our tour was learning multiplication and division tables. We studied the life of the Dutch people and made scenes similar to those in Holland. We treasured them very much when they were completed.

After taking a vacation we found ourselves on another trip under the leadership of new co-captains-Mrs. Moser and Miss Sitton. Five new members joined our party. They were Doris Creech, Marguerite Duke, Ramona Pearce, James Debnam and Lindberg Ray. While on this tour we took up the important subject-Geography. This helped us a lot in planning our voyages.

Miss Alston and Mrs. Gregory, who are still guiding a new group of voyagers in the fifth seas gave us a study of our home state, North Carolina. In completing this study we made booklets to show our friends and parents.

A new crewman, Edward Finch, joined us in the sixth sea. During that part of our voyage we enjoyed several social activities and engaged in the learning of fractions under Miss Anderson and Miss Wheless.

While on the seventh voyage of our school we did some hard work. We were under the command of Mrs. Bunn and Mrs. Chamblee and took several special courses in English, Palmer Method Writing and Art. Clentis Maiden joined us on this port of the trip. Being tired out from long hours of study we went on a summer sight-seeing tour.

Upon returning aboard the vessel we found many changes had been made. We had new co-captains, Miss Burnete and Miss Powers. While on this journey we took along with us a new member, Charles Pearce. We now had the rating of junior high school students and took numerous courses which helped us in our future work.

Our next period of traveling was very different from anything we had ever experienced. We obtained the rating of high school freshmen. Our advisers were Miss Olive and Miss Powers. This marked our first year of taking part in the different kinds of sports. Toby Brantley joined us in order to take part in the activities. We had a variety of courses offered. Included in them were Home Economics and Agriculture taught by Miss Palmer and Mr. Bunn.

When we were in good condition after the required three months of rest from the freshmen year, we found one captain could now care for those who had been strong enough to brave all the difficulties thus far encountered, so Miss Bright became our leader. Tency Pearce and R. P. Pearce Jr. also came on board with us. We enjoyed this period of sophomore work very much, but enjoying sight-seeing also we went on land again.

Going back to our vessel for the eleventh year of traveling we were under the guidance of Miss Walker. During this period of study many important things took place. First, we selected our class rings and then we gave the banquet which we call the most important of all social gatherings in high school days to the senior class. We took up advanced courses in several subjects and it seemed to us nearly half of the athletic teams were made up of juniors. During this time of happiness we were stricken by sorrow. One of our most beloved classmates, William Fowler, and his father were fatally injured in a train wreck.

Going aboard our ship last September marked our twelfth year of sailing. We now have stopped at our last port-graduation. For this important voyage we have had as our captain Miss Franck, who has proved to be very helpful and understanding. Our crew was 32 strong. This number included three new members: Richard Cherry from Stokes High School, Marie Corbett, and Vernon King from the junior class. During this year we have completed several tasks. The most important of these were the annual and the senior play. We attended the Junior-Senior banquet and several entertainments which we all have enjoyed.

It is with a feeling of mixed emotions that we leave the U. S. S. Wakelon. To the various captains we give our sincere thanks for their helpfulness. The class and school mates we leave behind will long remain in our memories. But, this class, realizing the great opportunities in life awaiting our grasping and struggle for them, hope in some way to repay those debts we owe to our ship, so that the U. S. S. Wakelon may be as proud to claim us for their former voyagers as we are to claim her as our mother ship.

Class Poem

Farewell

At last this longed-for day is here,
Tomorrow we will be gone
We'll leave you, friends and teachers, dear,
And you must carry on.

The dear old days at Wakelon School,
We never will forget
We've always followed every rule
And this we don't regret.

We owe our thanks to one and all
Who taught us as we came.
Our parents sent us back each fall,
To them we owe the same.

And to you friends we leave behind,
We'll give our best regards
And since to us you've been so kind,
Our future can't be hard.

You gracious ones who'll take our places
Who'll soon be leaving here too.
We'll miss your ever smiling faces
And hope you'll follow us thru.

And as we travel down life's pathway,
We'll find a way or make one.
God bless us if we go astray
And reward us when life is done.

Class Prophecy

Let us look into the crystal ball and read what will be the fate of the 1948 seniors of Wakelon School. As we gaze into the crystal ball, we see the form of a great city come into view. As the view becomes clearer we can see large buildings which seem to reach to the sky. In one of these skyscrapers is located the office of one of the greatest doctors in New York City. As we look into his office, who should we see but Hilda Baker, who is serving as his receptionists.

As we gaze upon the building, our attention is attracted to the Metropolitan Opera House at which Virginia Bobbitt is making herself famous as a singer.

When our gaze falls upon Times Square,we see children crowding around a peanut wagon which is attended by R. P. Pearce. He has come to New York City to seek his fortune after his retirement from farm life.

We wonder what is causing the traffic jam that is worrying police so. It is the great throng of people going to see Kenneth Hopkins, who as conductor of the symphony orchestra, is a sensation.

We catch a glimpse of Hollywood with its gay crowds and dazzling night clubs. As we look into one of its swankiest night clubs, we see Inez Hodge. She is escorted by Guy Madison, who is co-starring with her in her new picture, "She's Too Fat For Me."

We find that Toby Brantley, after studying French for 10 years, has finally succeeded in translating the first lesson in Book I.

Bobby Vance Brown is being tenderly cared for by friends and relatives while he is slowly recovering from burns which he received from the Atom bomb he invented.

Richard Cherry is still trying to replace his 42nd cousin as governor of North Carolina.

Eupearl Cunningham has succeeded in overcoming her dislike for Science and is now majoring in Physics at Duke University.

The crystal ball reveals a wonderful future for Rochelle Deans. She finally becomes the wife of John D. Rockfeller XIV.

Marguerite Duke has inherited the Pine State Creamery from her one and only beau, Shelton Bunn. She is now spending her time milking cows.

A scene of Hopkins Cross Roads comes into view. We see Gennavee Ellington busily at work in her modern office because of her interest in pleasing her boss. She is now secretary at Jackson's garage.

We find Lillie Ferrell in her charming home. After operating a beauty salon for 20 years, she has given up her work to take care of her dear husband, James Debnam and their little ones.

Beside highway 264 we see a little white cottage which is owned by Edward Finch, who,having lost his childhood sweetheart, has settled down to bachelorhood.

As we look farther down this highway we see Massey's hatchery,which is now owned by Ben Massey, who has finally decided to raise hens for 20 years without success.

The next thing we see is our dear Alma Mater,Wakelon. Here we find Charles Pearce who once made shallow grades in Physics has mastered the subject so well that he is now on the Wakelon staff as a brilliant Physics teacher.

We also find that Frances Phillips has joined the staff of Wakelon where she finds it interesting to give her loving care and guidance to the pupils of the fifth grade.

As we view Zebulon in the crystal ball,we find that some of 1948's graduates have found profitable positions in their home towns. We see that a new building has been erected in which S. G. Flowers, "Big Time Lawyer" of Zebulon, has his supposed to be, law office.

We find that Nina Belle Horton has taken the position as Bookkeeper for Carolina Power and Light Company.

Because of their charming new secretary, Marie Corbett, Little River Ice Co. is having no trouble in getting employees.

Betty Lou Blackley, now married to Lindberg Ray, is living in the home of her dreams where she is kept busy by her little Lindys.

We find that Roderick Horton has graduated from college after studying engineering for four years. He is now an engineer in the jungle but cannot carry out his plans because of Tarazan and his friends.

Bobby Pace has never given up his childhood ambition and is still trying to get to West Point.

We see another of our '48 graduates who has made quite a prosperous marriage. Minda Pearce, after serving as secretary to Henry Ford V for several years, has taken him as her lawful and wedded husband, and never gives Edward a thought.

Lindberg Ray, after finishing mechanical school, has set up a business of his own. He has attained Betty Lou as his life helper.

Charles Perry has gone into the movies where he is now thrilling the ladies with his handsome charm.

On a cattle ranch, we find Rex Tippett, who is a very succesful cattleman. He has persuaded Louise Scarboro to be his life's companion.

Doris Creech, now married to Luther Price is living a happy life in the big city of Wakefield.

Ramona Pearce, having tired of keeping house for her daddy, has started keeping house for her Johnston County husband.

We find that after courting Lillie for 25 years, James Debnam has persuaded her to say yes to his proposal.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class of '48 of Wakelon High School, supposedly sound in mind, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament, making previous wills null and void. We do bequeath all our assets without regret in the following manner:

Article 1: To our school we leave our everlasting loyalty.

Article 2: To our parents we give all our appreciation and devotion for making our graduation possible. We hereby promise to do as much as we can to make their lives joyful.

Article 3: To the faculty we will our deepest appreciation for their patience and guidance through the past years.

Article 4: To the Freshmen we bequeath our dignified attitudes.

Article 5: To the Sophomores we will the great joy entertaining the Senior Class of '49.

Article 6: To the Juniors we leave our honorable position as Seniors. We hope they will enjoy the front seats in the auditorium.

Article 7: The Seniors as individuals leave the following: Hilda Baker's intelligence to Bill Brantley. Betty Lou Blackley's ability to make and keep friends to Durant Finch. Virginia Bobbitt's ability to sing with the Swing Sisters to Becky Clark. Toby Brantley's nickname, Beecie, to Lawrence Blackley. Bob Vance Brown's two study halls to anyone who needs them. Richard Cherry's ability to play basketball to Bobby Bridges. Marie Corbett's ability to finish school early to Dan Privette. Doris Creech's meekness and friendliness to all Junior girls. Eupearl Cunningham's boisterous ways to Bobby Phillips. Rochelle Deans' red hair to Suzanne Bunn. James Debnam's freckles to Robert Blackley. Marguerite Duke's big mouth to Martha Jones. Genavee Ellington's knack for guarding Nan Mattox to Lady Talton. Lillie Ferrell's beauty to all Junior girls. Edward Finch's musical talent to Laura James Sexton. S. G. Flowers' fear of a patrolman to Betsy Driver. Inez Hodge's long hair to Annie Braswell. Kenneth Hopkins' tallness and long legs to Robert Lee Privette. Nina Belle Horton's dependability to Elsie Tippett. Roderick Horton's barely passing Physics grades to all future Seniors for they will certainly need them. Vernon King's love of 8th grade students to Avon Fuller. Ben Massey leaves Kilroy to everyone who writes his name on school property. Bobby Pace's motorcycle to Ruric Gill Jr. Charles Pearce's brains to Martha Jones. Minda Pearce's good grades to Dan Privette. Ramona Pearce's glasses to Becky Clark. R. P. Pearce's slimness to Johnny Gay. Charles Perry's poetic ability to Robert Lee Privette. Frances Phillips' slim figure to Margaret Pace. Lindberg Ray's ability to blush easily to Elsie Tippett. Elvera Raybon's faithfulness to one boy to Sue Richards. Rex Tippett's ability to handle Rolesville girls to Fred Mangum.
